IMPORTANT NOTE. Freezing does not hurt Ginseng seed or two year old roots as in their natural state they will freeze hard in severe weather conditions. If your ground has had a freeze, wait for a partial thaw and plant according to folder, then mulch at least two inches over with the material we have recommended. In other words, you can utilize your winter hours and still put in your planting of "The GREAT CASH CROP—GINSENG".

Please Remember Ginseng Seed can be successfully planted in the fall until the ground freezes.
